PRACTICE EXPERIENCE

John “Jack” Chenette is an associate attorney serving in the firm’s litigation group. His practice focuses on matters involving personal injury, business disputes, and transportation-related claims. Prior to joining the Firm as an Associate, Jack served as a law clerk at the firm, where he gained firsthand insight into the industry and the legal challenges facing the clients he now represents. Jack brings a strategic and detail-oriented approach to helping clients navigate disputes and develop practical solutions.

Jack lives in Atlanta, Georgia. Outside of the office, he enjoys exercising, cooking, supporting his team in the Premier League, and spending time with his fiancée.
